Coupon Inventory System

Explanation About Coupon Inventory System:

Coupon Inventory System is a system which gives brief idea about how coupon shortlisted, selected and purchased.

Flow of Operations:

Step 1: User Login

Step 2: If User is not registered with database Registration window will open

Step 3: Dropdown will have generated for coupon selection criteria.

Step 4: List of all available coupon will display along with functionality for sorting and purchase

Step 5: List of all purchased coupon will appear for logged in user.

Step 6: Database will get modified.

Targeted Audience:

Software is developed for Coupon Vendors or online coupon providers who usually put coupons on online website. Because of this web application, coupon provider doesn't need to assemble physical system or instore application as this application can be access anywhere from web.

Dependencies:

To run this application web browser as well as internet connection will require. Any browser like Google Crome, Internet edge, Firefox Mozilla, Safari will satisfy the need of browser.

Operation:

- First User will have to create login credential from Registration phase.
- After that user will redirect to login page.
- After login, User can see three dropdowns from where he/she can select parameter for searching for available coupon and list of all available coupon will get displayed.
- After selecting checkbox, in front of available coupon final purchase window will appear where all purchased coupon will get displayed.